The News.

Our telegraphic news from Washington this morning, though interesting, is of no special importance. The Lecompton storm is brewing, and promises soon to break out in a perfect hurricane. It is said that the Administration Senators intend to hasten the passage of the Lecompton Swindle by an attempt to close the debate at an early day. All the Republican Senators are preparing to take part in the debate, and Judge Douglas is getting ready for a great demonstration. The Select Committee of the House are having a stormy time—the majority, being Administration men, oppose every measure for a fair investigation of the Kansas fraude.

In our State Legislature nothing especially interesting was done yesterday. The investigation of Railroad matters is progressing. A resolution was presented to the Assembly deferring judgment upon Byron Kilbourn for contempt.

There was a destructive fire at Brooklyn yesterday, and another at Annapolis, destroying St. Anne's Episcopal Church.

A Tennessee murderer was arrested at Washington.

The steamship Niagara arrived at Boston, yesterday morning.

Two men were suffocated in a coal mine in Pa., yesterday.

The New York and other Eastern markets were without important change. In our own market yesterday a trifle more activity was exhibited, and wheat was in more lively request.—The weather in all the principal cities of the West is reported cloudy or snowing.

Where is the Money?—Mr. Wolcott, the last witness brought up to testify in relation to the money disbursed by Lawrence, Stone & Co., to secure the passage of a tariff law, is declared by the Committee to have received $58,000 of the $85,000, and the question is, what did he do with it? Honorable members indignantly declare that they have received no part of it, and Mr. Wolcott for the present rests under the imputation of having put it in his own pocket.

☞ A Washington correspondent writes that from what he knows of Keitt, the South Carolina sprig of chivalry, who disgraced the Hall of Representatives the other day, he deems it entirely probable that he was "too drunk to know whether he was struck or not."

☞ Twenty-one thousand dollars were paid by Government for printing the Dred Scott decision. A practical printer at Washington says he could do the job for $3,500, and make money at that. But that is the way things are done by an economical Democratic Administration.

☞ The price of dressed hogs in Rochester is quoted at from $5,75 to $6,25, many good hogs being taken at $6 per hundred. The supply is represented as of very rare quality.

Mixing Matters.—The Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Herald, under date of Feb. 11, thus alludes to the recent dispensations the one political, the other domestic:

A democratic Senatorial caucus was held this morning in the anti-room of the Senate. After a free consultation relative to the business before Congress, and the Kansas question in particular, and without coming to any conclusion, they adjourned to meet on Monday next.

Messrs. Broderick and Stuart, of Michigan, were present at the caucus. These Senators were informed that in future no Senators inimical to the Kansas policy of the administration would be expected to attend any caucus of democratic Senators. In fact, Douglas, Broderick and Stuart are read out of the party.

The same misfortune that has occurred to Senator Douglas in his attempted Kansas coup d'etat, has occurred to him in his domestic relations.—Mrs Douglas was suddenly taken ill, and the Judge has lost an heir.

From Barbadoes.—We have news from Barbadoes to the 20th ult. Muscovado sugar, now was in market at $3 50@$4 50 per hundred pounds; molasses was offered at twenty cents per gallon; and rum, crop of 1857, at twenty cents per gallon. Flour was heavy at $7 on for extra Ohio. There was an oversteock of meal, bread and crackers. Good mess pork rated at $21@$22, duty paid. Lumber was declining. Exchange on New York rated at 4 per cent current funds, for ten days. No demand for freights. The weather was favorable for the planters, and the canes are reported to be ripening fast. Some sugar has already been brought to town, but the crop would not commence generally before the beginning of February. The health of the Island continued good.

Stock in Kansas.—The Kansas Grunader of Freedom of a late date says:

"Money is very scarce in Kansas. But we believe that there will be more money in the Territory next summer, than in any State in the Union, in proportion to the population. The Utah expedition has already cost $6,000,000; the army has already lost 1,700 mules and between 3,000 and 4,000 head of cattle. The probability is that all their stock will be gone before spring. This stock, the feed and fodder—every kind of agricultural produce—will have to be replaced. Let eastern emigrants who have stock, bring it on."

Startling Rumor.—The Toledo Blade is responsible for the following:

It is whispered about in court circles that Mr. Buchanan is about to suspend our diplomatic associations with Great Britain, on the ground that her Majesty, Queen Victoria, in making her preparations for the marriage of her daughter with the Prince of Prussia, was so imprudent as to include in her invitations, Sarah Bonnetta, an African princess, boarding at Chatham; and even to send, with the invitation, dresses suitable for the occasion. She could hardly have reflected on the serious offence which this example of royal "negro worship" would give on this side of the Atlantic.

Byron Kilbourn's Case.—It will be seen by reference to our report of the proceedings in the Supreme Court, that Mr. Kilbourn has appealed to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus, to test the right of the House to keep him in custody. The writ has been awarded, made returnable forthwith.—Madison Journal.

The Investigation not a Failure.—The transactions before the land grant investigating committee, are not public, and little is definitely known as to the testimony already taken by them. Quite a number of witnesses have been examined, however, and notwithstanding the refusal of Messrs. Falvey and Kilbourn to answer, it is understood that sufficient evidence of corruption has already been disclosed to justify the investigation, even if the committee should proceed no farther in their inquiries.—Madison Journal.

Fatal Accident.—Mr. Wm. Churchill, of Porter, came to his death under the following circumstances, last evening: He had just returned home from Fulton with a yoke of oxen, and, while in the act of unhitching them from the sleigh, they started suddenly, bringing him under they sleigh, and breaking his neck. Mr. Churchill was a native of Ireland, and leaves a wife and five small children.—Janesville Standard.

WILLIAM A. PRENTISS,
Alderman 7th Ward.

Milwaukee, February 16, 1858.

Lively.—Our streets have presented a very lively appearance for several days past. Although there is not much business doing, yet people are out every day in multitudes—many enjoying the fine sleighing, and as many more enjoying the pleasing spectacle to which each one contributes his mite of animation. Our city is all alive with the merry music of the sleigh bells, and an occasional harmless runaway, adds not a little to the general excitement. When in a hurry, it requires some patience to elbow ones way through the crowds that throng our principal thoroughfares—East Water Street in particular—and extensive crinoline proves to be not only a serious impediment to the progress of the wearer, but an almost entire prohibition to the navigation of other individuals—on the sidewalks at least.

A Case of Distress—Appeal to the Firemen.—John Jorges, for several years a faithful and efficient fireman, though not now connected with the Department, is suffering from a bruised leg, which incapacitates him for work, and thus makes it impossible for him to earn a living.—He is thus necessarily dependent upon charity for support and medical attendance. Not being a member of the Fire Department he cannot be relieved from their Fund; but an appeal is made, in his behalf, to the Firemen, and contributions, however small, solicited. Those who are disposed to give will please call on Mr. Henry Middleton, Wisconsin Street, opposite the Custom House, who will furnish any information that may be desired.

The Masquerade Last Night.—As might have been expected, the grand Bal Masque of the Milwaukee Musical Society, at Young's Hall, last night, was a pleasant affair. The Hall was filled to its utmost capacity, with perhaps as brilliant a company as ever attended a masquerade ball in our city before. The performance of the Comic Opera, "the whale," and other amusing representations, by the members of the Musical Society, contributed no small amount to the interest of the entertainment. The performance of the tableaux, by the young ladies, was greatly admired, and the performances of the Opera were loudly encored. Many elegant costumes were worn, and the characters, generally, were well sustained, but our space will not permit us to go into details at present.

A Strong Handed Woman.—The Cincinnati Gazette of a recent date, relates the particulars of an occurrence which afforded abundant food for a day or two's gossip in the "City of Pigs." It seems that an amorous youth, named Meyers, attempted to steal a kiss from the ruby lips of a lady physician of that place, and the lady resolving to resent the insult, by giving the fellow a public cow-hiding, came to the Southgate House—where Meyers had been employed as Clerk—a little before dinner time, when there was large crowd gathered in the office, and walking up to the "gay Lothario" drew a covered rawhide from beneath her cloak, and commenced laying it warmly over his head, face and shoulders. The attacked party pushed her off, and attempted to retreat, when her cloak fell to the floor; exposing to the gaze of the by-standers a six-barreled revolver protruding from the belt of her dress!

After being pushed aside, the woman immediately recovered herself and "went in," again, and continued to lay on the stripes thick and fast, until the party assailed cried, "hold—enough." The lady then desisted from the attack, picked up her cloak, and coolly walked off apparently well satisfied with the achievement.

Runaways.—There were several runaways yesterday, in the vicinity of the post office, two of which came under our immediate observation. One happened in the forenoon shortly before dinner time. A horse attached to a cutter, started some where upon Mason street, and running down to the Walker House, he turned south and dashed down East Water street at a frightful speed, and brought up near Spring street bridge. There was nobody in the cutter when we saw it, and we believe no one was hurt. The street was crowded at the time and it is surprising that more mischief was not done.

The other, which we also witnessed, happened in the afternoon, towards evening. A farmer's team with a load of hay, became frightened on Market street, and ran down Market square in the direction of the post office. Before running far, they capsized the load of hay in the middle of the street, and continued running with the empty sleigh. The driver was standing in front of the horses when they started, and in endeavoring to hold them he got caught between the horses, and in this disagreeable position, he was carried, or rather had to hang on for his life, until the horses were stopped down on East Water street. He had a very narrow escape, and had it not been for the prompt exertion of two strong men, who grabbed hold of the horses about the same time on each side, there is no knowing what would have become of him.

David Lane was fined $5 and costs, for being disorderly.

F. O'Rorke, charged with being disorderly, was discharged.

A Chase.—The police had quite a spirited chase after a prisoner, up in the Seventh Ward, yesterday. The fellow had been arrested for disorderly conduct in the Third Ward, and while his name was being entered upon the station house record, before locking him up, seeing the door open, he made a bound and succeeded in getting out upon the street. Here the fun commenced. He sped like a wild Indian up Mason street with four police men close upon his heels. The fellow was very active, and ran nearly three blocks, but seeing no hope for escape, he succumbed with a good grace, and conducted himself very peaceably while being led back to the "lock up."

☞ There are plenty of young gentlemen as well as plenty of old ones whose beards are turning grey, which gives the former a great deal of uneasiness, and exposes the age of the latter. To avoid these little perplexities, we advise such of our readers to use Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative, which will, in the course of a few weeks, restore the hair to its natural color. It does not dye the hair like the most of the hair restoratives, but produces a gradual change of color from the roots of the hair to the final end, and gives it a fine and glossy appearance. We have seen many persons who have used it success'ully, and pronounce it the only invention which has come to their idea of a cure for grey heads.—We commenced using it about two months since, and if we are any judge of age and beauty, it has made us at least ten years younger; in fact we are beginning to look quite young, and feel very much like getting a young wife. The change is unconscious, and it would be no difficult to find a grey hair now as it would be to find an idea in the head of the Duke of Buckingham. We know several old maids and some young widows, whose looks are just beginning to assume a silvery hue, and who have been talking seriously about resorting to this remedy, and we advise them not to delay any longer. It never fails.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

Washington, Feb. 15.

The war department has received despatches from Lieut. Ives, in command of the expedition for the exploration of the Colorado River of the west. The party arrived at the mouth of the Colorado, after an unusually long passage from San Francisco. A small steamer, brought from Philadelphia, after great labor, was out together and launched on the 13th of Dec., and answered admirably the purpose for which it it was intended. Lieut. Ives found the charts of the River defective, but material for their correction had been gathered from the mouth of the Colorado to Fort Humn. The River is very crooked and full of snags, shoals, sand bars, &c.

The democratic members of the Ohio legislature have written to Senator Pugh withdrawing all instructions as to how he will vote on the Kansas question. It is understood that both the Minnesota Senators, Rice and Shields, are opposed to Mr. Douglas' course on Kansas affairs. The Senate committee on Territories will report against the admission of Oregon at this time, on the ground that she has not sufficient population. No urgent necessity exists for her immediate admission, and that her citizens do not desire it. The President has nominated Col. Johnston, commander of the Utah expedition, to the brevet of brigadier general. As soon as the Kansas question is disposed of, it is believed the President will call the attention of Congress publicly to the state of our relations with Spain and the necessity for the adoption of prompt and vigorous measures for the enforcement of redress for the outrages committed by that power upon our flag and citizens.

Important from Washington.

Washington, Jan. 16.

Tribune's correspondence:—The Administration Senators intend to hasten the passage of the Lecompton Constitution by a resolution to close debate at an early day.

The debate promises to be one of the greatest in the history of Congress. All the Republican Senators are preparing to take part in it. Judge Douglas is making ready for a great demonstration. The separation of himself, and of Messrs. Stuart, Broderick, Hardis, Marshall, Montgomery, Hickman, Cox, and their associates, from the Lecompton party, is looked on as final and complete.

Arrangements are in progress for the consolidation of a great anti-Lecompton party.

It is said that Postmaster Gray, of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, is to be removed in spite of his caving in on Lecompton.

Re-Organization of the Supreme Court.

Washington, Feb. 15.

Senator Seward has given notice of his intention to introduce a bill into the Senate to reorganize the U. S. Supreme Court and Circuit Courts, so that the several States shall be represented by Judges in the courts more nearly in the basis of their Federal Population, while the administration of Justice shall be made more speedily and effectually.

The Senate has confirmed Mr. Jewett as Marshal of the Northern District, and Mr. Birdsall as Naval officer of New York.

Murderer Arrested.

Washington, Feb. 19.

Last night officer McHenry arrested W. Fleming, alias M. F. Norton, who is suspected of being the man who murdered H. F. Roberts, at Winchester, Tenn., about Christmas time. Subsequent information induces the belief that the same person followed Calhoun and his party from Kansas, with nefarious designs. He has been committed for further examination, on the receipt of intelligence from Tennessee. Col. Carpenter, of Chicago, has been retained by Calhoun to assist in the prosecution.

The News vs. Mr. Potter.

The News, which has preserved a studied silence on the subject of the recent fracas in the House of Representatives, took occasion, yesterday, to compliment itself for this reserve, and, at the same time, to misrepresent the conduct of Messrs. POTTER and WASHBURNE in the fight.—The sympathies of the News being all with the blackguard KEITT, who was the sole instigator of the row, it, of course, makes out that he escaped unharmed, and that Messrs. POTTER and WASHBURNE are wearing borrowed plumes. The News thus states its case:

"Be it known, then, that Potter did not strike Keitt; that Washburne did not scalp Barksdale; that Keitt was not struck at all, for, next morning, he was in his seat in the House, tidily dressed, and no wound or mark upon him. Besides, Keitt in course of his elegant apology, said he had not been hit, or in any way, hurt. But what of Potter? Hear the Boston "Post" on this point: "Potter, of Wisconsin, mixed in the fight, but gave no blow while he received a heavy one under the left eye."

The Boston Post, like the News, is an interested witness, and, in this particular instance, has borne false witness. Almost every paper in the country, and nearly all the Washington letter-writers agree in the details of the affair, substantially as we have published them. We will cite but one more witness, and that is the New York Herald, itself a supporter of the Administration, Lecompton and all. The account in that paper reads thus:

The precise words used by Mr. Keitt to Grow were—"Go over to your own side of the House, you damned Black Republican puppy." The response of the latter, that he was not to be driven by the lash of a slave driver, was a natural retort, and entirely justifiable under the circumstances. It was one that could hardly be ruled out of order, even in debate.

In an instant the Southern chevalier had jumped from the semi-recumbent attitude which he had been occupying with his heels on his desk, and grasped the Northern chevalier by the throat. They are both young men, strong and athletic, and the blood of the Northern is no less fiery than that of the Southern. Grow seized Keitt, and there was a momentary struggle between them. Mr. Davis, of Miss., a tall, powerful man, with not a morsel of love for those abolitionists, who don't believe in the Lecompton Convention, promptly interfered and loosed the combatants from each other. Then Keitt struck at Grow, Grow struck back, and Keitt went down. The backers of the Southern champion say that he stumbled; those of the Northern champion that he fell under the prowess of their man. It was such an instantaneous thing that I fear the question must ever remain a disputed one. On the moment the forces of the Republicans, headed by Potter, of Wisconsin, and supported by the Horatii Washburnes, rushed down the several gangways of their side to rescue their chief out of the enemy's hands and country. Down the gangways of the opposite side rushed the Lecomptonites. The forces met in the neutral space in front of the Speaker's chair, the area where the House divides by tellers. The conflict is described as terrible.—Potter is an accomplished professor of the noble art of self defence, and pitched into it right and left with a vim that upset the perpendicularity of friend and foe; for in the heat and passion of the moment there was little chance for selection. It is said that one of the Washburnes went down under his indiscriminating blows. Lamar, of Mississippi was the leader on the other side—a stout, broad shouldered, lusty youth—and the misinformed "a doubler" to his friend from North Carolina is the melee, not distinguishing him from a Black Republican. Harris, of Illinois, and the other anti Lecompton Democrats stood by, unmoved spectators of the scene.

But it is unnecessary to multiply evidence on this point, since the misrepresentations of the Boston Post, endorsed by the News, are palpable and deliberate; that the scene was a disgraceful one, as the News says, is undoubtedly true; but all the disgrace of it attaches to Mr. KEITT, whose cutlian insolence provoked and merited the chastisement he received. The conduct of Messrs. POTTER, WASHBURNE, and other Republicans, who rushed to the help of Mr. GROW, when they saw him assailed, as they supposed, by a crowd of Southern members, was prompt, spirited and manly; and is, we venture to say, cordially approved by nine-tenths of their constituents without distinction of party.

GOV. WISE AGAINST LECOMPTON.—The letter addressed by Gov. WISE, of Virginia, to the Democratic anti-Lecompton Convention in Philadelphia, a bold, as well as an able document. The N. Y. Herald says of it: "The party of Gov. WISE, in his State Legislature, and the Virginia delegation in Congress, are unanimously against him; and yet the boldest, the fiercest, and the most indignant pronunciamento that has emanated, perhaps, from any quarter against the Lecompton Constitution, as a fraud, a trick, a cheat a swindle, and an infamous and insufferable outrage upon popular rights, is this same letter of Gov. WISE."

There can be no doubt that a good many Southern statesmen and politicians share the convictions expressed by Gov. WISE; but he is, as yet, the only one who has dared to avow them. The greatest honor, therefore, to him for this manly utterance for the[e]Right.

CHICAGO MUNICIPAL ELECTION.—The Chicago Municipal Election takes place on the 2d of March. The Republicans have nominated John C. Haines, for Mayor, Jacob Rehn, for City Marshall, Joseph N. Henricks for Collector, Elliott Anthony for City Attorney, Alexander Wolcott, for City Surveyor, and Robert S. Wilson, Recorder, who will undoubtedly be elected.

A CONJUGAL INCIDENT.—Lola Montez tells the following anecdote of Dumas: He married a broker's daughter, without wit, good sense, beauty, or even a spotless character merely to pay a large debt he owed her father. Entering his room suddenly one day, he caught a man in the very act of kissing his wife. "Good Heavens," was his only remark, "and without being obliged to!"

UNSUCCESSFUL VOYAGES.—The Shipping List says that 44 of the 68 whalers expected to arrive at New Bedford the present year, will make losing voyages, some from the small amount of oil taken, and others from the low price of oil and bone.

AN INTERESTING OCCASION.—On Sunday last, Rev. N. Heston preached a sermon to the firemen of Philadelphia, on which occasion one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine members of the Department were present.

Persistence in Wrong.

The obstinate adhesion of President BUCHANAN, and his backers, to the Lecompton Swindle, and their settled determination not to permit a fair investigation by Congress, into the frauds and villianies committed by the Border Ruffians in Kansas, are made still more apparent, if possible, by Speaker ORR's selection of the Committee under the resolution of Mr. HARRIS, of Illinois. Courtesy and usage alike required that the majority of that Committee should be friendly to the object for which it was raised, and reflect the sentiments of those who voted for it. But Speaker ORR, regardless of this well settled rule, has placed a majority of Lecomptonites on the Committee, as follows:

Thomas L. Harris, Douglas Dem., of Illinois,
Alexander H. Stephens, Lecompton Dem., of Georgia.
Justin S. Morrell, Republican, of Vermont.
John Letcher, Lecompton Dem., of Virginia.
Edward Wade, Republican, of Ohio.
John A. Quitman, Lecompton Dem., of Missouri.
Warren Winslow, Lecompton Dem., of N. C.
Henry Bennett, Republican, of New York.
David S. Walbridge, Republican, of Michigan.
James Buffington, Republican, of Massachusetts.
William F. Russell, Lecompton Dem., of N. Y.
Alison White, Lecompton Dem., of Penn.
Garnet W. Adrian, Douglas Dem., of New Jersey.
Thomas L. Anderson, Lecompton Am., of Missouri.
John W. Stevenson, Lecompton Dem., of K. Y.

The New York Commercial, a paper by no means favorably disposed towards the Republicans, and hitherto well inclined to the Administration, thus speaks of this persistence in wrong:

The Administration and its supporters seem determined to drive all fair and conservative men in the Free States from their ranks into the ranks of the Republicans, and are likely to be very successful in the determination, for who that desires fair play to all, can endorse or connive at such palpable unfairness and wrong?

From the Philadelphia Press.

The Anti Lecompton Democratic Meeting in Philadelphia.

Never within the annals of public meetings in Philadelphia, has any popular demonstration created so extraordinary a sensation as that produced by the assemblage against fraud, at National Hall. The moment the doors were opened the crowd poured in, filling the seats and aisles to such an extent, that in less than thirty minutes every part of that vast saloon was one mass of human beings. Meanwhile, thousands applied for admission at the various doors leading to the hall, in vain. Governor Stanton spoke for nearly three hours, with an ease, grace, and sustained eloquence, such as it has rarely fallen to our lot to witness in any other man. Contenting himself with a plain, vigorous statement of facts, he stood before that breathless throng, riveting the attention, and exciting, at intervals, the most electric applause—at times, the whole mass rising on their feet, and cheering in a manner that spoke how keenly they felt the truth of what he uttered, and the power of the immortal principle he was so gallantly defending.

He rose into a Statesman, if he had never been one before; and although great disappointment was felt that Governor Walker was prevented from attending yet, when the meeting adjourned, there could hardly have been one of those who were able to obtain entrance to the Hall, who did not leave perfectly satisfied with the splendid vindication of his position by his accomplished coadjutor and friend. Democrats from every part of the city were present, in numbers; delegations from Montgomery, Chester, Delaware, Berks and Lancaster attended; while, on the stand, in conspicuous places, were found prominent Democrats from New Jersey, including a number of the Democratic members of the Legislature. We presume that after this, the multitudes who attended this great meeting, will be permitted to remain in the ranks of the great Democratic party. They could not be conveniently spared.

THE WASHBURNES.—Israel, Elihu and Cadwallader Washburne, are three brothers in Congress. Israel is from Maine, Elihu is from Illinois, and Cadwallader from Wisconsin; although they are all natives of the State of Maine. Another brother is a Republican editor in California, and not, unlikely, will soon be in Congress with his three brothers. The father of this Republican family still lives in the county of Penobscot, Maine, in the Congressional District represented by his eldest son. He is a man of sterling character, sound sense and general intelligence. It is said that the character and destiny of his sons were formed in a great measure by a rather peculiar feature of the paternal household. It was always the home of all the travelling clergymen in the country, of the father's faith; and a hospitable home, too. The only return exacted for this hospitality was conversation and discussion on political and religious topics. The whole available time of the sojourner must be devoted to the interchange of views on all the great questions of the day; and it was these exercises, eagerly listened to by the boys, that first stirred their minds and roused their ambition, to become intelligent men and useful citizens.

Israel has served four terms in Congress, Elihu three, and Cadwallader two—including the present. Not less remarkable than many other incidents in the lives of these brothers, are the majorities by which they were chosen. Israel's was 2,205; Elihu's, 12,543; Cadwallader's, 9,871!

And they deserved every vote they received.

THE GAME OF FRAUD PLAYED OUT IN KANSAS.—The Herald of Freedom of the 6th inst., after referring to the finding of the election returns under Regent Calhoun's wood-pile, remarks:

The Pro-Slavery party concede that "the game is played out," and the leaders are now packing up, perparatory to leaving. Some of them have already sought security in flight; to return, they are fully conscious, is to ensure their immediate death. The people are aroused, and are ready to sweep into eternity, at any moment, every person connected with these fraudulent movements to rob the people of their liberties. John Calhoun, the President of the Lecompton Swindle Convention, is a fugitive from justice. His return will insure him vengeance from the people—but he will not return. He reads his doom in the countenance of every honest man he meets! With the mark of Cain on his brow, he will continue a wanderer and outcast while life lasts.

THE HISTORIAN BANCROFT ON THE BUCHANAN MESSAGE.—The Washington correspondent of the Albany Journal says:

"Mr. George Bancroft, the historian, after listening to the reading of the President's Lecompton Message, turned to a friend, and in glowing words denounced it as the most infamous document ever sent into Congress.

By the by, among the most zealous opponents of the Lecompton swindle in this city, is Henry S. Foote, ex-Senator from Mississippi, now of California—he who, on the floor of the Senate threatened that the people of Mississippi would hang Hale if ever he came to that State."

DRY DOCK AT MENASHA.—We learn from the Neenah Conservator, that Messrs. J. E. Underwood & Co., are building a dry dock at Menasha Its dimensions are one hundred and eighty-six feet long, sixty feet wide, and capable of receiving boats drawing five feet of water. It is to be constructed on the principle of an ordinary lock. When filled with water, the vessel or steamer is floated in, the gates shut, and the water drawn off. The boat will rest on timbers three feet above the bottom, giving ample room for repairing and caulking. When repaired, the dock will again be filled with water, and the boat floated out.

It will, it is said, be ready for use about the 1st of April.

SKATING FOR THE LADIES.—The Bangor papers say that the skating in that quarter was nearly destroyed by the hail and sleet with which they were visited last week. The firemen of Bangor, however, have gallantly volunteered to turn out with their engines and wet down a sufficient surface on the river to afford a skating privilege for the ladies of the city, of whom there are about fifty well skilled in this healthful amusement.

☞ Galusha A. Grow is a native of Windham county, Conn., and is now about thirty-five years of age, of medium size. At the age of three years he was left fatherless; at seventeen he entered Amherst College, Mass. In 1850 he was first elected to Congress by 1250 majority, and took his seat in 1851, the youngest man in the House. He is now serving his fourth term.—His district, Democratic previous to 1854, gave 7,500 majority at his second election, at the third he was elected unanimously, and at the fourth his majority was 8,000.

☞ The Philadelphia Evening Bulletin says that the President was entirely beaten out in the Democratic primary meetings in Philadelphia on Monday evening, held for the purpose of nominating delegates to a State Convention.

The Royal Marriage in England.

The marriage of Prince Frederick William of Prussia, was celebrated at the Chapel Royal, St. James' Palace, on the 26th of January, according to the programme. The day was generally observed as a holiday. Immense crowds cheered the royal party in the most enthusiastic manner.

We take the following account from the court programme issued by Queen Victoria.

LORD CHAMBERLAIN'S OFFICE, Jan. 18, '58.

DRESSES WORN ON THE OCCASION.—Notice is hereby given, that the ladies who are invited, to be present in the Chapel Royal, St. James, at the approaching ceremony of the marriage of her Royal Highness, the Princess Royal, will wear full dress, with plumes, but without trains.

Full dress will also be worn by those who have tickets to view the procession in the state rooms, but without trains or plumes.

Gentlemen will wear uniform, or court dress.

All who have tickets of admission to the Colonnade will be in morning dress.

It is expected that no person will appear in mourning.

THE ROYAL BRIDAL COSTUME.—The bridal costume of the Princess Royal was of rich white moire antique—the lace dress of exquisite Honiton guipure, consisting of three flounces, the body being trimmed to match. The veil was of Honiton guipure lace, worn in a style completely novel in England for bridal costumes, attached to the head with magnificent Moorish and Spanish pins. The dress and veil were splendidly worked—the emblems being the rose, thistle and shamrock. The latter has employed fifty girls for the last twelve months. This new style of veil was entirely her Majesty's suggestion, and the carrying out of the idea met the approbation of the Queen. The cost of this production was about £600.

THE WEDDING BONNET.—The Princess Royal's wedding bonnet, which she had on upon leaving Buchingham Palace for Windsor, was of white tulle, trimmed with lace and bunches of orange blossom outside, with lace quilling inside, and white silk ribands. The size is not very diminutive.

THE QUEEN'S COSTUME.—The costume which her Majesty dressed in at the marriage of the Princess Royal and Prince Frederick William was of peach color moire antique, with Honiton lace flounces and peach velvet train, the lace flounces being the same which the Queen wore at her own wedding.

NO CRINOLINE.—The width of the seats at the chapel royal on the occasion of the marriage was twenty inches. In re crinoline had evidently not come under consideration of those who spaced the chapel.

THE BRIDESMAIDS.—At the wedding some of the highest families in the empire were represented in the persons of the young ladies who had the honor of officiating as bridesmaids.—Among the families thus honored were those of the Dukes of Richmond, Newcastle, Hamilton, Southerland and Athol, and those of the Earls of Derby and Clarendon. The names of these fair representatives of the high aristocracy are said to be Lady Cecilia Lennox, Lady Susan Pelham Clinton, Lady Susan Murray, Lady Catherine Hamilton, Lady Emma Stanley, Lady Constance Villiers, and the Lady Cecilia Molyneux, sister of the young Earl of Shafton. A daughter of the late Earl Spencer would also have been one of the "bright galaxy," but owing to the sudden death of her father, she, of course, had to forego that distinguished honor. Lady Cecilia Lennox has a sister married to Prince Edward of Saxe-Weimar, the nephew of the late Queen Adelaide, who is an officer in the Guards, and who greatly distinguished himself in the Crimea.

THE CHAPEL.—The floor of St. James' chapel was covered with a scarlet carpet, and was entirely appropriated to the royal cortege, the illustrious visitors and their suites.

THE ALTAR.—The altar was of crimson velvet, on which was the royal communion service of gold plate. There was a low rail of oak round the alter, the supporters of which were of gold, the whole of the top being covered with crimson velvet. The Archbishop of Canterbury officiated, assisted by the Bishop of London, notwithstanding that the latter is dean of the chapel-royal. G. Smart presided at the organ. The attestation of the royal marriage took place in the Throne room. The attestation book is in the keeping of the Archbishop of Canterbury, and is a curious memento, containing witnesses for centuries past.

THE ROYAL WEDDING CAKE.—The royal wedding cake was of colossal proportion—five feet in height. It was made in three tiers, and in compartments, each one being surmounted with a figure of a classical character, more resembling a work of art, in ability and execution, than a production of the confectionery department. It was brought to Buckingham Palace in pieces, and finally put together there.

[Here follows the grand procession from the Court to the Chapel, for which we cannot make room.]

AT THE CHAPEL.—On reaching the chapel the drums and trumpets filed off outside the door, and the procession advancing, the bridegroom was conducted to the seat prepared for him on the Haut Pas, on the leading to the altar. His supporters occupied seats upon the Haut Pas near the Royal Highness. The officers of the bridegroom stood in the nave of the chapel. The other gentlemen in attendance were conducted to seats.

The Lord Chamberlain and Vice Chamberlain, preceded, as before, by the drums and trumpets, then returned to the State apartments to attend the bride, whose procession having been formed in the royal closet, moved to the chapel.

CEREMONY IN THE CHAPEL.—On arriving at the Chapel the bride was conducted to her seat in the chapel, on the left side of the Haut Pas leading to the altar, near her Majesty's chair of state, and his Royal Highness the Prince Consort and his Majesty the King of the Belgians were conducted to their seats, on the Haut Pas, near the bride. The Lord Chamberlain and Vice Chamberlain stood near her Majesty.

As each procession entered the chapel a march was played.

When the bride had taken her place near the altar, a hymn was sung, and the service commenced.

The service was performed by his Grace the Archbishop of Canterbury; the Lord Bishop of London, Dean of her Majesty's Chapel Royal; the Bishop of Oxford, Lord High Almoner; the Bishop of Chester, Clerk of the Closet; the Hon. and Very Rev. the Dean of Windsor, Domestic Chaplain to the Queen; and the Rev. Dr. Wesley, sub-Dean of her Majesty's Chapels Royal.

The bride was given away by her father, the Prince Consort.

At the conclusion of the service, Handel's Hallelujah Chorus was sung, and Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the procession left the chapel.

AFFECTING SCENE IN THE CHAPEL.—After the conclusion of the ceremonial the bride gave vent to her feelings, and flung herself upon her mother's bosom, at which a scene took place in which great emotion was evinced by all concerned.

After the marriage, the young people started for Windsor. On arrival at that place, they were drawn in a carriage to the castle by the Eton boys, amidst enthusiastic cheering.

The Queen, London, gave a grand State concert at Buckingham Palace, on the evening of the wedding day.

The principal streets of London were brilliantly illuminated in honor of the occasion.

THE BRIDAL CHAMBERS AT WINDSOR.—The suite of apartments destined for the Prince and Princess at Windsor Castle present a perfect specimen of palatial luxury, without sacrificing the ease and comfort which are more highly prized than mere excess of adornment by all persons of good taste. The rooms—six in number—are situate in the Lancaster Tower and its immediate vicinity.

The principal apartment is over St. George's Gateway, and commands that most charming of all rural prospects, the "Long Walk." All the suite have been newly furnished in the most exquisite taste—the style being an adaptation of the period of Louis XVI. to the more substantial furniture appropriate to a castellated residence. The prevailing color of the decorations is crimson and white upon a gold ground. The walls of the principal apartments are decorated with bridal festoons, composed of a combination of the blue cornflower of Prussia with the red rose of England, illustrative of the strength of the bridegroom and the beauty of the bride.—These garlands preserve an appropriate nationality by the occasional introduction of shamrocks and thistles in agreeable variety.

The pictorial decoration of the rooms is almost exclusively confined to pictures relating to Prussian history, from the era of Frederick the Great to the present day; and every apartment contains choice specimens of china, chiefly productions of the highest German art. In two of the principle rooms are displayed a few superb presents offered to the Princess Royal by various members of our aristocracy, and among them some wonderful specimens of embroidery and ornamental work. A charming effect is produced in one of the rooms in the Lancaster Tower, by the ingenious adaptation of an oaken bookcase to an angle of the apartment overlooking the town of Windsor. The window is blocked up by the bookcase, but in the centre of the latter is a small glazed aperture, through which is obtained a beautiful peep of the bustle and excitement always prevailing in the royal borough, while from the opposite window the eye rests on the unbroken expanse of sylvan scenery formed by Windsor Great Park. The contrast of the busy hum of town life, seen as it were through a kaleidescope, with the quiet and calm of the forest scenery on the other side, is extremely novel and interesting. The ornamental ceilings of all the rooms have been retouched, and rich carpets lain down. The orange blossom upon green leaves has been adapted to some of the rooms, and in the principle saloon the pattern is composed of the English rose for the centre, with a gothic border from the design of the late Mr. Pugin. The whole suit of rooms open into the great corridor of the Castle, world famous for its assemblage of works of art, collected throughout the reigns of the Georges, and largely increased by her present Majesty and the Prince Consort; and immediately opposite to the door of the sitting room hangs the picture of the present Queen.

THE PRINCESS AND HER FRIENDS.—Several autograph letters were written by the Princess Royal, to her friends among the nobility of her own sex, taking a graceful and affectionate farewell of them.

Lola Montez on the Witness Stand—She Gives a Sketch of her Life.

Lola Montez was called before a referee as a witness in a case, in New York, on Tuesday, for the purpose of impeaching the tasdimony of one David W. Jobson, whose assignee was the plaintiff. She stated that she knew Jobson in London as an attorney-at-law; that he had called on her in London for the purpose of obtaining materials to write her memoirs, and that he had obtained money from her on several occasions, or, as she expressed it, "black mailed her." Lola was very spiteful to the lawyers, and gave them a good deal of trouble. On her cross-examination she testified as follows:

My name is Lel Montez; my family name was Maria Rosanna Gilbert. Q.—Where were you born? A—In the beautiful town of Limerick. Q.—How old are you? A.—Thirty-three. Q.—When were you born? A.—Count, I cannot tell, I wasn't present when I was born; I have had two husbands, and am on the point of having a third; my first husband was Captain James. Q.—Were you married to Captain James? A.—The ring was put on my finger by a Clergyman. What other husband have you had? A.—Now, wait a moment; I'd never have you, be sure; I was married to James near Dublin, I was a child of fifteen; he ran away with me; that was my first marriage; he ran away with another lady about a year after I was married; I was living in Mugeer, India, then; I lived there about seven years; from there I came to England; I think in 1843; I married about the year 1840; I don't know how long I remained in London after I returned; a few months; I was on the stage, and practicing under the instruction of a Spaniard named Espa; I was lodging with an old Scotchman and his wife; my father was Adjutant General of the Bengal army.

Q.—Were you living with a man at the time? A.—I never lived with any man since my husband left me; my husband charged me with an intrigue with a man named Captain Lenox, on ship board, but it was a false accusation, made by him, because he was living then, with Mrs. Captain Lenox, of the 21st Regiment; I went from London to Spain, and all over that country; I remained in Spain a few months, learning to dance; I was traveling perfectly alone, as I travel now; there was a charming little girl named Dolores in Spain, whose husband had deserted her. Q.—For you? A.—No; I never did any of that sort of thing. Q.—How many have you? Well, come listen—none; I resided at the Court of Bavaria two years. Q.—Who did you know there? A.—Everbody, but yourself; I knew all about several millions of persons; I knew the King of Bavaria; Mr. Wittelsbacker he was called; that was his family name. Q.—Were you the mistress of the King? A.—(Rising)—What! (emphatically) No, Sir, you are a villain, Sir; I'll take my oath on that book (the Bible) which I read every night, I had no intrigues with the old man; I knew the King, and moulded the mind of the King to the love of freedom; he took me before the whole Court with his wife, and presented me as his best friend; I was on the stage in Bavaria; it is easier to be a man's mistress than a dancer; I was in Bavaria in 1847 and 1848; in 1849 the revolution occurred, and liberty and I fled; the King and Queen supported me while I was there; I was engaged in political business; you might call me prime minister, if you please, or, as the King said, I was the King; there was a man of straw there as prime minister; true, but he was only a man of straw; the memoirs that have been written about me are lies; that man is trying to get my memoirs, I suppose; [Mr. Jobson was writing.] I was living in Picadilly, London, in 1849, when I saw Jobson; I had come from Switzerland about two months before; I was in India when very young; I was about 8 months old when I sailed for India the first time.

Q.—Did you call on Mr. Jobson first, before he called on you? A.—(starting up)—No, no; —(laughing aloud), oh, that is too funny. I was called Countess of Landsfeldt, and not Mrs. James. Q.—Did not Mr. Jobson subscribe a guinea to prevent you from being taken to the watch house? A.—He hadn't a guinea. Q.—Did not he give you a guinea to keep you from taking to the street for a livelihood?

Witness.—(indignantly rising)—Am I to be insulted? Gentlemen, will you not protect me?

The referee quieted her.

Referee.—Mr. Schermerhorn should not have asked the question.

Witness.—Schermerhorn! Is that his name? Oh, ho! I shall have some questions to ask him. (She wrote down the name of the plaintiff's counsel.)

At this point, a little before 6 o'clock, the reference was adjourned.

THE RIOT IN CONGRESS.—A correspondent gives the following further particulars concerning the disgraceful melée in Congress, on Saturday last:

The prominent Southerners engaged were Messrs. Barksdale, Lamar, and Ruben Davis of Mississippi; Burton Craige, of North Carolina, and others. On the Republican side were the three Washburne brothers, Kellogg, and Lovejoy, of Illinois, and Potter of Wisconsin. This latter gentleman was a host in himself. He struck right and left with both arms, and left his mark wherever his blows fell. He has the reputation this morning of having "floored" no less than fifteen, most, if not of all of whom, are to-day occupied in nursing black eyes.

Barksdale of Mississippi, lost his wig at the first attack, and having recovered it, placed it on his head in a reversed position, much to the amusement of the spectators. Davis of Mississippi, who made the speech the other day, accounts for the sable setting around his eye this morning, by avowing that he accidentally stumbled over a chair, but Potter, of Wisconsin, thinks he knows who had a "hand in it."—Baltimore Clipper, Feb. 9.

☞ "Wonders will never cease." The sedate New York Commercial has perpetrated a joke! And a capital joke it is!"

THE FIRST OF THE SEASON!—At 6 o'clock this (Monday) morning, a full grown and vigorous mosquito made its appearance in the editorial room of the Journal of Commerce.—Journal.

The sagacious little insect was doubtless attracted thither by the extremely Southern aspect of that office.—Commercial Advertiser.

THE PEN AND THE PRESS.

BY JOHN C. PRINCE.

Young Genius walked out by the mountains and streams,
Entranced by the power of his own pleasant dreams,
'Till the silent, the wayward, the wandering thing
Found a plume that had fallen fresh from a bird's wing,
Knitting and proud, like a boy at his play,
He bore the new prize to his dwelling away;
He gazed for a while on its beauties, and then
He cut it, and shaped it, and called it a Pen;

But its magical use he discovered not yet,
'Till he dipped its bright lips in a fountain of jet;
And oh! what a glorious thing it became,
For it spoke to the world in a language of flame;
While its master wrote on like a being inspired,
'Till the hearts of the millions were melted, or fired;
It came as a boon and a blessing to men,—
The peaceful, the pure, the victorious Pen!

Young Genius went forth on his rambles once more,
The vast realms caverns of earth to explore;
He searched the rude rock, and with rapture he found
A substance unknown, which he brought from the ground;
He fused it with fire, and relished at the change,
As he moulded the ore into characters strange,
'Till his thoughts and his efforts were crowned with success,
For an engine uprose, and he called it a Press.

The Pen and the Press! blest alliance! combined
To soften the heart and enlighten the mind;
For that to the treasures of knowledge gave birth,
And this sent them forth to the ends of the earth;
Their battles for truth were triumphant indeed,
And the rod of the tyrant was snapped like a reed;
They were made to exalt us, to teach us, to bless,
Those invincible brothers, the Pen and the Press!

LEAKS SIMPLY STOPPED.—The Lynn News says:—

"Some years ago I had a leaking 'L.' Every north-east storm drove its waters in. I made a composition of four pounds of rosin, one pint linseed oil, and one ounce red lead, applied it hot with a brush to the part where the 'L' joined the main house. It has never leaked since. I then recommended the composition to my neighbor, who had a lutheran window which leaked badly. He applied it, and the leak stopped. I made my water cask tight by this composition, and have recommended it for chimneys, windows, &c., and it has always proved a cure for a leak."
